Juror of Selection and Awards: Jacquelyn Gleisner

Jacquelyn Gleisner studied art and art history at Boston University, where she was traditionally trained in drawing, painting, and sculpture and graduated with honors in 2006. Two years later, Jacquelyn continued her investigation of pattern-based abstraction at the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan and received an MFA in 2010. The same year she was awarded a Fulbright Grant and a position as a Visiting Researcher at Aalto University in Helsinki, Finland.

In October 2015, Jacquelyn traveled to Botswana for ten days of cultural programming through the Arts in Embassies Program. While there, Jacquelyn taught workshops on painting and gave public talks. In addition to her studio practice, Jacquelyn writes about contemporary art. Most notably, she was a regular contributor to Art21's online magazine, and in October 2018, Jacquelyn founded Connecticut Art Review, a writing platform for the arts. She currently works at the Yale Center for British Art as a communications manager.
